

I and Thou Retreat

Creating Healing Relationships

October 20-24, 2010 • Austin TX

“Egos appear by setting themselves apart from other egos; persons appear by entering into relation to other persons.”

– Martin Buber

In this retreat, we will look at how our relationships serve as vehicles for personal and spiritual growth. We will look deeply into the issues we have with others, and see, mirrored back to us, aspects of our own being that we have rejected. We can then embrace and reincorporate those aspects back into our being, becoming whole again in the places where we have split off from ourselves. By opening fully to our deep yearnings for what we don't have in relationship, we can access the deep wounds in our soul and heal them at their core.

In this retreat, you will learn and master all the tools you will need to have happy and fulfilling intimate relationships for the rest of your life. Through partner work, group discussion, and optional (for fee) private interview time, we will look deeply together into the specific relationship patterns that prevent you from sharing love. We will begin the process of uprooting these patterns at their source and regaining our birthright of peace, happiness, and love.

This is a 4-day residential workshop being held at a beautiful Commanders Pointe Estate in Austin, Texas. The retreat begins on Wednesday, October 20th at 7:00 p.m. and ends on Sunday, October 24th at 1:00 p.m.

Body/Energy work will be offered by JoAnn Gorka and Margie Mensik. The fee for this service is in addition to tuition fees.

The workshop is facilitated by Dale Goldstein, LCSW, co-founder/director of the Heartwork Institute, Inc. in Rochester, NY, and author of award-winning Heartwork: How To Get What You Really, REALLY Want. Since 1966, Dale has been actively exploring the uses of meditative, healing, and psychotherapeutic tools in the process of opening the heart/mind, individually and in relationship.
